make a difference? - doubling time basics • all solid tumors are present in three dimensions • approximate volume can be calculated if you know the length, width and height (doesn't account for ragged edges, but this doesn't matter) • typically the volume is known at two different moments in time • the "doubling time" is the amount of time doubling time and half-life - university of utah - doubling time the doubling time is the time it takes a quantity that grows exponentially to double. this time is written t double. calculations knowing the doubling time can be made to find any value of a quantity growing exponentially after any amount of time. consider an initial population of 10,000 that grows with a doubling time of 10 years. mcf-7 breast time required for a culture to double in number, with the following formula: $dt = t \ln 2 / \ln(xe/xb)$ t is the incubation time in any units. xb is the cell number at the beginning of the incubation time. xe is the cell number at the end of the incubation time. (see: note) note: doubling times and ct screen-detected lung

(a). the doubling time of a population of flies is 3 hours. by what factor does the population increase in 24 hours? in 1 week? (b). the doubling time of a city's population is 22 years. tumor doubling time and survival of men with bronchogenic ... - described in terms of volume doubling time, ie, the time it takes for the tumor to double its volume. while there is some doubt about the validity of such a model for human cancers, the doubling time may be useful if it correlates with survival so that some degree of prediction may be derived from it. 8b - doubling time and half-life - 8b - doubling time and half-life the time required for each doubling in exponential growth is called the . the time required to reduce by one half in exponential decay is called the . doubling time: consider an initial amount of 10000 and a doubling time of 20 years: how many times has the human population doubled - 3 from the doubling time interval estimates. the simplest mathematical answer to the question posed here is $6.0 \times 10^9 = 2^x$ where x is the number of doublings, or about 32.5 . $\ln(6.0 \times 10^9) / \ln 2 = 22.515$ $x = \ln 2 = 0.693 = 32.4892$ (1) population growth questions
